On Tuesday 21 November J A Kemp is holding an event on the subject of "How to Assess Third Party IP: Strategies for Considering Your Freedom to Operate";

The event will be held from 8.30am to 10.30am at The Magdalen Centre on the Oxford Science Park.

At the event J A Kemp's IP experts will discuss the various options available for considering third party patent and trade mark positions, and how to ensure that your company is steering a clear path through any obstacles, such as:

What strategies can I consider for looking at third party IP?

When should I be looking?

How do I go about it: searching strategies and understanding the results

How do I interpret any patents I find?

What are my options if I find IP which might be relevant?

Clearance searches: when, where, why and how?

Considering earlier rights: how to interpret search results
